DETAILED ACTION

1. This action is in response to applicant's amendment received on September 19, 2005.
2. Applicant's cancellation of claims 1-14, 16-26, 28-41, 43-52 and 54 is acknowledged.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

3. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

4. Claims 15, 27, 42 and 53 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Chen (6,431,428) in view of Hou (5,653,371).

Chen discloses an apparatus comprising:

a housing (20) including a first end and a second end, the housing for storing nails (50) and providing nails to the nail driving assembly of the nail gun, the first end of the housing for pivotally coupling with the nail driving assembly (column 2, lines 16-21);

a handle (12) including a first end and a second end, the second end coupled with a fastening assembly (figures 1-3);

an adjustment assembly (13, 22, 23, 132) disposed proximal to the second end of the housing, the adjustment assembly for affixing the position of the housing relative to the nail gun (column 1, lines 29-41);

an adjustable angle magazine (20) including a side, a first end for pivotally coupling with the adjustable angle nose casting assembly (figures 1-3 and column 1, lines 35-39), and an adjustable angle nose casting assembly (the barrel 16 assembly) couple with the nail driving assembly (10), the adjustable angle nose casting assembly for receiving the nail and enabling the operational engagement of the driver blade with the nail (column 2, lines 12-13);

Chen discloses the claimed invention, but does not expressly disclose a side loading mechanism disposed on the side of the cover and the cover removably coupled with the adjustable angle magazine (as in claims 15 and 42).

Hou discloses an apparatus comprising: a side loading mechanism disposed on the side of the cover (figure 1, column 1, lines 10-14), and the cover (11) is removable from the housing (figure 1 shows that the cover of the housing is removable from the housing). Hou's mechanism enables the user to remove the cover of the magazine, to load the nails into the magazine from the side of the magazine and to cover the nails when it is in operation providing safety protection for the user.

Therefore, it would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art, at the time applicant's invention was made, to have modified Chen's apparatus by incorporating the side loading means and the removable cover as taught by Hou providing the nails loading flexibility to the hand tool and the safety protection of the removable magazine cover.

Chen further discloses: the nail gun is a pneumatic nail gun (abstract).

Response to Arguments

5. Applicant's arguments filed September 19, 2005 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

6. In response to the Applicant's argument that:

"Hou does not teach that the magazine includes a removable cover for providing protection to the adjustable angle magazine, as claimed in the present invention. Further, Hou does not teach that a side loading mechanism is disposed on a side of the removable cover for enabling loading of nails through a side of the cover and into the magazine, as claimed in the present invention."

the examiner respectfully disagrees.

As discussed above in paragraph 4 of this office action, Hou, in figure 1 and column 1, lines 10-14, clearly discloses the removable cover (11) to the magazine (1). Hou's magazine is not an adjustable magazine, but Hou is relied upon for the teaching of the removable cover of the magazine and the side loading magazine.

7. Applicant's arguments with respect to claim 15 and 42 regarding to Hou's side plates (41, 42) in figure 5 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

To make the record clear, the examiner relied upon the figure 1 of Hou's disclosure for the teaching of the removable magazine cover and the side loading magazine. As the Applicant removed the top loading limitation from the claims 15 and 42, figure 5 of Hou is not being relied upon for the rejection of claims 15 and 42.

Conclusion

8. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
